Asian girl originally from [AFRICAN COUNTRY]. Quite modern-looking, short dark hair tied back in pony-tail, trendy t-shirt and sweat-shirt/cardigan and bright coloured Bermuda shorts. Pretty, bright and full of fun. Very self-assured and confident. She does interviews with people herself for the college magazine and her previous school magazine. Says she wants to be a journalist. She is very determined about her career. This comes first for her. She gave up her boyfriend because she felt she was concentrating too much on him. (He was a white boy). Goes out with girlfriends and has fun, really enjoying this. Doesn't plan to have a sexual relationship yet, not ready for it. Might have one before marriage if she thought the relationship was right but doesn't see it as happening yet.

Parents are very easy with her. They want their children to grow up adapted to this culture. They are Muslim and Hindu (respect.) so their marriage was disapproved of. Don't expect her to have an arranged marriage and she herself does not want to marry until she is about 30.

Little sex ed. at school. Most learned from mother who told her about everything, but not things like masturbation or other sorts of sex apart from full sexual intercourse. Says she would expect a boyfriend to use a condom and take equal responsibility etc.

Forgot to ask if would re-interview and do diary but I intuit that she most probably would as she was so confident and outward-looking.
